Church Notice.
Services every Sunday, at 10:30, at the Methodist Episcopal Church, on Marina street. Sunday school immediately after service. REV. D. B. WRIGHT, Pastor.

SPECIAL NOTICE in the reading columns will be charged at the rate of THIRTY CENTS per line for first insertion, and twenty cents a line for each subsequent insertion.

Auction.—To-morrow morning J. L. Fisher will sell a span of fine American buggy horses, after which he will sell town lots.

Episcopal Church Service will be held on Sunday evening next, at 7:12 o'clock, at the church on Marina street. Rev. F. O. Barstow officiating.

Mr. Donohue has put up racks and hung the books and ladders belonging to the village. One set is located at Asher & Co's new store and another at C. P. Head & Co's.

M. Hutchison, traveling agent for Pond, Reynolds & Co., San Francisco, is paying Prescott a visit in the interest of the house he represents. Mr. H. is well known all over the coast as a reliable business man.

We were wrongly informed last week as to the purchase of the brick-yard by Mr. Drake of Jas. Howey. Mr. Howey still owns it and is using some of the brick in the erection of his two-story brick blacksmith shop.

Parson Groves, of Salt River Valley, came to town yesterday with a wagon load of sweet potatoes for which he found ready sale at 12 1/2 cts. per pound. These are the first sweet spuds we have seen in the Territory.

MOVED.—L. Bashford & Co. have moved into their new store, and we presume we hazard nothing in saying that it is the finest and most extensive mercantile establishment in Arizona. The building is double with large doors dividing the wholesale from the retail department, and very neatly and conveniently arranged.

S. O. Baker and T. G. Fisher have leased a lot from A. L. Moeller, on Cortez street, north of the court house, and are about to commence the erection of a blacksmith and wagon shop. Mr. Baker, who is a wagon and carriage maker, has been working at carpentry here for some time, and Mr. Fisher, the blacksmith, came from Kansas with the Arizona Mining Association.

Mr. Willis, of whose operations we have made frequent mention, has been experimenting with ore from the Uncle Joe and Lone Star mines, and finds them easily smelted in a furnace constructed of adobe and common brick, though after reducing the ore to base bullion he was unable to refine it without melting down his furnace. He found that four pounds of rock yielded one pound of mat, and by assay the mat was worth $1,200 per ton. These mines are within six or eight miles of town and, he says, are very easily worked.

A. H. Peeples, whom nearly everybody knows, has left Wickenburg and come to Prescott to engage in the saloon and billiard business. He has taken the building formerly occupied by L. Bashford & Co. as a store, and calls it the "Mechanical Exchange." It is fitting it up elegantly and will be open for business within a week or ten days. The report that he was to start in on the "one bit" principle is not true. He informs us that he will keep nothing but the best, and wants his prices to correspond with the quality of his goods. Cash, however, will be a special feature of the business.

Col. H. C. Dodge, the Arizona correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle and several Eastern papers, has been writing up Arizona for nearly a year, and in that time has collected a great many facts not observed by those who do not make it a business to look for them. The Colonel has called upon us and we find him a gentleman of great observation and intelligence. He has now gone with Mr. Bean to look at the Peck and Bradshaw mines. On his return, a week from to-morrow evening, he proposes to deliver a lecture at the Court house, on the subject of the Zuni Indians, their traditions, etc. See advertisement.

Mrs. L. B. Jewell and two children left for California on Sunday, to spend the winter, on account of her health, a change of climate being thought desirable. Mr. Jewell will accompany her as far as the Colorado river, and on his return will go to work with the Company on the celebrated Peck mine. His jewelry store and assay department he has given in full charge to Mr. W. J. Howard, who will conduct the business. As a first-class workman, it may not be surprising to say he has no superior in the West. Having been for several years with such houses as Tiffany & Co., New York City, and Wm. Wood & Son, chronometer makers, Boston, Mass. With recommendations from such firms, a confidence will at once be established among our citizens that their work will be manipulated in the best possible manner.

A rude figure, somewhat resembling a fish, rudely carved with a sharp instrument, was dug up by Geo. Lount, in the hard cement in South Montezuma street, some two feet from the surface, last Saturday. The material is a red phosphate, the image some three inches in length and three-fourths of an inch in diameter, with a hole through what we take to be intended for the eye's eye. We now carry it as a talisman, and in examining its curious workmanship can only wonder when and by whom it was made. Many upon ages have rolled away and been swallowed up in the vast sea of eternity. Empires and nations have been born, flourished and perished from off the earth since the hand that formed this curious relic has returned to dust, and yet here are the evidences of its cunning presence to this remote generation. We can only surmise as did Mark Twain in his reflections on the architect who planned certain ruins of the Holy Land, "He's dead now."

A CONFIDENTIAL RESIDENCE AND OFFICE.—We have shown through the new residence and office of Dr. McCandless, on Wednesday, and found as much neat and convenient an amount of room as could well be crowded into that amount of space. The front, or the south-west room is the Dr.'s consulting room, in which he keeps quite a stock of medicine, desks, chairs, etc., and immediately in rear of his consultation room, richly carpeted and comfortably furnished. Passing thence into the sitting or Mr. McC.'s room, we found it elegantly arranged with everything necessary for a most essential feature. In the kitchen we found Mrs. McCandless frying doughnuts, thus specially demonstrating the utility of that domestic appliance, which has a pantry and other conveniences attached. Thence through the dining room, which is the largest and, when completed, will be the most elegant room in the house. Dr. McCandless, and more comfortable quarters than could be imagined.

Reading by Dr. Barstow.

PRESCOTT, Nov. 10th, 1875.
DR. F. O. BARSTOW, Dear Sir:—The undersigned having been highly entertained by the Readings you gave in connection with the Concert in aid of the Mine Society, and being desirous of another entertainment before you leave for California, respectfully request that you will give another reading, at a time most convenient to yourself, the proceeds of which will be devoted to your own private benefit.

(Signed), T. W. Otis, C. P. Head, H. Brooks, Geo. D. Kendall, O. Allen, L. Bashford, A. L. Moeller, Fred Williams, Rodenburg & Foster, H. H. Carter, John Raible, William Wilkerson, T. J. Butler, W. M. Buffum, W. W. Hutchison, C. Jackson, John Howard, V. A. Stephens, C. A. Lake, G. Cornell.

To T. W. OTIS, C. P. HEAD, and other gentlemen of Prescott.—Your very kind invitation is at hand, for which please accept my heartfelt thanks. In compliance with which, I would appoint Thursday evening, November 18th, as the most convenient time to give you another Reading.

Gratefully yours, F. O. BARSTOW.

AN OLD SCOUNDREL.—An old fraud calling himself John Ellison made his appearance in Prescott on Monday and represented that he had just arrived from Denver, Colorado, on Ash Creek, between here and Verde, with 300 Durham cows and nineteen blooded bulls. His first business transaction was to contract with young Osborne for a ranch on Ash Creek, agreeing to give him $1,000 for it. Afterwards he slipped himself into a fine suit of clothes at Buffum's. Here we made his acquaintance and procured material for an interesting item, the details of which were about these: He was one of the Ellison Bros. who had been beef contractors at the Red Cloud Indian Agency for some years past, and now were transferring their entire business to this country. They had about eleven hundred Durham cows which would eventually be brought here, but 300 was all he had with him. He had just contracted with Alex. Harris for 30,000 bricks with which to build a milk-house and butter and cheese factory on a large scale, believing that from the richness and abundance of the Arizona grasses that they could not only supply the Territory with butter and cheese, but ship it away at a profit.

The next day, while we were working these facts up into a flaming item on the prospective advance of having the Ellison Bros. elect Yavapai as the base of their operations, we learned that our bank King was patronizing Moon's faro bank very liberally and promised to be quite as valuable to the sporting fraternity as to the more substantial business interests of the country, having already, as we learned, dropped about $1,400 into the above mentioned institution. On Wednesday we concluded to enquire further into his operations before giving them to the public, and ascertained that he had gone to Theophilos Louission's store on Goodwin street, and ordered about $150 worth of goods for his cattle camp, and borrowed $150 in cash, leaving as security a check for $2,500 on a Denver City bank; this was on Monday, and on Tuesday Mr. L. allowed him to take the check away to get it cashed, when he went with it to the faro bank, having lost the money borrowed, and played on it until he lost some $1,400 when he asked for the balance of the $2,500, in change, and was told that he could have it as soon as an answer could be received by telegraph from Denver, as to its genuineness. We examined the check and found it very clumsily drawn on the National Bank of Denver, in favor of "John Ellison" and signed "J. C. Bailey," dated "August 1st, 1875," and numbered "2." On being required to endorse the check on the back, the pretended Mr. Ellison wrote his name in exactly the same hand with which the face was written, and began his name with a small "e," and spelled it with one l, just as it was spelled on the face. When they saw the signature the parties interested began to weaken, nevertheless they telegraphed to Mr. Bailey at Denver and in due time received an answer that he knew nothing about such a check, and had certainly never drawn it. Then they began to look about for Mr. Ellison, but he was gone, and is still gone; no one knows where.

We understand he paid Mr. Osborne $50 on his ranch, which was probably a part of what he borrowed from Louission. From further inquiry, we learn that a man who has worked at Harris' brick-yard knew this man by sight in Denver two or three years ago, and that his name is Wilson, or at least that is the name he knew him by there. He is a man about fifty years of age, about five feet nine or ten inches in height, somewhat gray, and has the appearance of a genteel, well-to-do farmer. Whether Ellison likes have brought or are bringing cattle to this country or not we are not now informed so well as we were a few days ago, but it is safe to bet that Ellison's cattle are too fine to be seen with a microscope.

MORE NEW BUILDINGS.—H. Hughes, of Wiley & Hughes, is building a residence on McCormick street, between the cottages of Sherman and French. The main building is 14x35 on the ground.

Wiley & Hughes have commenced their Sash factory, of which we made mention last week, and already have the frame up for a wind-mill that is to drive the machinery. Alexander Graden has built a very neat cottage residence on Granite street, between Mrs. Burke's residence and Cal Jackson's new house. James Howey is building a two-story brick blacksmith shop at the south-east corner of the plaza, corner of Cortez and Goodwin streets.

William Wirt Hutchison has built a very comfortable looking stable on the rear of his lot on Cortez street.

A. L. Moeller is building a house between Frederick & Heenan's tin shop and Ruggles & Drew's store on Montezuma street, to be used by Dr. Warren E. Day as a store.

The old Aztec rain in front of Cheap John's is torn up and removed, but no new sidewalk laid yet.

Ben Lindenberg has removed his shop back behind his kitchen and dining room, and is building a new and very handsome shop on the site of the old one, half-way between Dan Hatz' restaurant and the C. and A. Stage Co's office on Montezuma street. Ben says the old shop was rather too "rustle" to suit him, the sides being made of slabs. The new building is 35 1/2 feet by 23, and being substantially built.

Mrs. Dickenson is building an addition to her new house on South Montezuma street.

W. J. HOWARD, practical Watchmaker, L. S. Sawyer and Jeweler, is now connected with A. B. JEWELL, Prescott, Arizona. Persons having fine watches out of repair will find it to their advantage to call on me, as I will guarantee my work to be first class in every respect, equal to any work done in San Francisco or the Eastern cities. All kinds of Jewelry repaired and made to order. Engraving and Enameling neatly executed. All orders will be promptly attended to. Assaying in all of its branches carefully manipulated. Specimens of ores, crystallizations and curiosities from every section solicited for our cabinet. W. J. HOWARD.

LOOKOUT for the great Auction Sale of horses etc., on the 20th inst., for particulars see advertisement.
